

NON-DEGREE STUDENTS

A non-degree student is defined as any student that is not admitted into a Master's or Specialist degree program. Non-degree Applicants can be admitted into two categories: financial aid eligible plans and non-aid eligible plans. Applicants seeking additional teaching endorsements, initial certification or the Transitional Certification Program (TCP) are aid eligible. Those applicants seeking certificate programs, taking courses for personal enrichment, taking pre-requisite courses to be eligible for admission into a degree program, etc. are not eligible for financial aid.

Non-degree applicants complete an online application (<https://www.applyweb.com/unkgrad/>) and pay an application fee if applying for the first time thru the Office of Graduate Studies and Academic Outreach at UNK. An application fee is also required for returning non-degree graduate students who have NOT taken courses at UNK within the last two years.

If an applicant decides to pursue a graduate degree at UNK in the future, it is important to understand the university regulations about non-degree coursework. The following provides a description about non-degree graduate study at UNK:

- Certain courses may require permission from the instructor prior to registration.
- Non-degree seeking students are not permitted to take certain graduate level courses.
- Only certain non-degree seeking applicants listed above are eligible to receive Federal Financial Aid.
- Graduate programs are under no obligation to accept non-degree coursework should a student decide to pursue a graduate degree at a later date. Students in non-degree status interested in pursuing a degree program may want to contact the department or confirm the coursework completed is listed on the approved program of study before registering.
- While graduate programs may allow some non-degree courses to count toward a degree, no more than 12 credit hours will be accepted.
- An official transcript from the institution awarding the bachelor's degree is required for unconditional nondegree admission. NU transcripts (UNO, UNL, UNMC and UNK) are obtained internally unless an academic or financial hold is on the account. By virtue of submitting an application, the applicant is providing consent for internal access to these academic records. Transcripts should be sent to the following address: Graduate Admissions, 1910 University Drive - CMCT 310, University of Nebraska at Kearney, Kearney, NE 68849 or electronically emailed from the institution to gradstudies@unk.edu.
